Hungarian Statesmen, Headed by Premier, Arrive at Vienna in Connection With Peace Move

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 4.—A delegation of Hungarian statesmen, headed by Premier Wokere, has arrived at Vienna, in connection with a new peace move, according to the Cologne Gazette.

The other members of the Wokere party were: Count Tisa and Count Andrássy, former premiers of Hungary, and Count Apponyi, the Hungarian minister of instruction.

A new and decisive step will be taken on the initiative of Baron Burian, the Austrian foreign minister, the newspaper says.

Regarding the negotiations at Vienna, Premier Wokere said to the representative of a Hungarian newspaper:

"This much I can tell you, we are again laboring intensely to the interests of peace, and we are already negotiating."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Secretary Lansing tonight authorized the statement that the government has received a letter from Austria-Hungary to take part in peace negotiations outside of the dispatches to the press, quoting the correspondent of the Berlin Tagblatt.

J. F. Rankin, Veteran, Formerly of Edmonton, Brutally Murdered at Calgary—Body Found in River

CALGARY, Oct. 4.—The body of a man which has since been identified as that of James Ferguson Rankin, a former member of the 4th battalion, and whose last known address was the River View hotel, was found after an afternoon on 4 and 5 o'clock in the Bow river, near the west end of Eleventh street East. Some time before the body was found, it was reported that a man had been seen in the river, and that the body was caught on a branch and a building.

The man was the victim of a murder, it is believed, and was killed by a man named Rankin, who was formerly of Edmonton, and who was brutally murdered at Calgary.

The body was found in the river, and was identified as that of James Ferguson Rankin, a former member of the 4th battalion, and whose last known address was the River View hotel.

SIX GREAT BATTLES

Germans Forced to Put Reserves to Different Use Than Planned

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, Oct. 4.—The four great battles that have been in progress since September 10 from Flanders to the Meuse have increased to six by the entry into action of General Debeney's army around Quettin and General Berthelot's forces northwest of Rheims, and all continue with great intensity. How far they are being directed against the German army, and how far they are directed against the Hindenburg and subsidiary lines behind the German line.

The endurance of the Allies have shown no sign of weakening, and the severe struggle over an extended front against such formidable works surprised the enemy. The Germans expected that the Allies would be unable to hold out for a long time, and that they would be forced to retreat.

One of the most important successes was in the fighting where the British army, under the command of General Haig, was captured by American troops on the Meuse. This success was a great blow to the German army, and it showed that the Allies were capable of holding out for a long time.

Austria-Hungary Wants Peace

Austria-Hungary's desire for peace no doubt comes from troubles at home, as well as from the Allied armies outside her borders. The Austro-Hungarian armies have been heavily engaged at any point since their defeat on the Piave by the Italians. Their withdrawal from Albania acknowledges the dominance of Italy on the Adriatic. It must be taken as an evidence of weakness at home rather than an effort to reinforce another front, because means of communication are so lacking since the destruction of their transport vessels at Durazzo that only a remnant of the army can be brought to the sea.

On the west front the fighting is still fierce. The greatest British advances are being made in the northern part of the line from the vicinity of Cambrai to the North Sea. Around Cambrai the fighting is still severe. There has been a slight British withdrawal from the point of the new salient north of St. Quentin. The Germans are fighting stubbornly at all points, but are generally giving ground and losing prisoners. Six battles are in progress at once between Verdun and the North Sea.

Will Not Affect Supply. This embargo will not affect the supply during the six weeks' period for which it is to apply, it is felt, but it will tend to stabilize the price and the supply later, as the butter that is in storage will be sold now rather than later in the season as had been intended. With the curtailment in the imports of butter, it will be no doubt as to the retail price going up later, when the present supply is exhausted.

Lessened Production. There is a possibility also that the farmers will not make the same efforts to increase the production, since they will not have the same prospects of the high prices that were expected.

Protect the Higher Value of your Household Goods and Properties

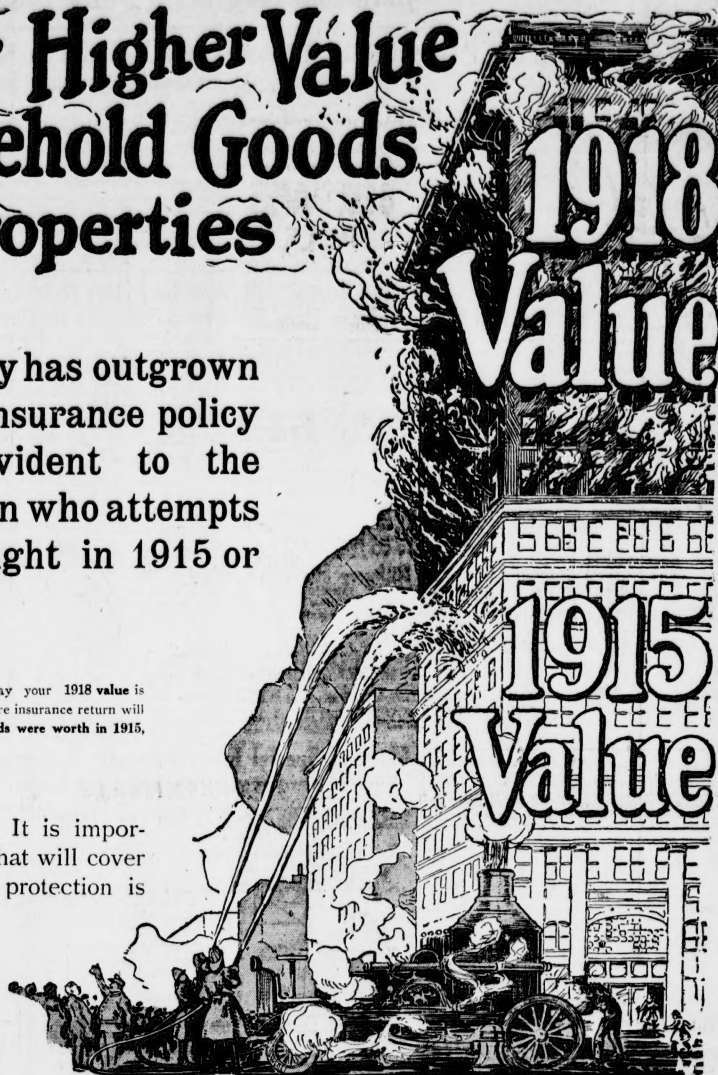

THE value of your property has outgrown the size of your fire insurance policy—that is immediately evident to the householder or business man who attempts to replace anything bought in 1915 or before.

Your insurance policy written on the 1915, 1916 or 1917 basis of valuation is an undersized garment of protection. It fits present valuation as poorly as a youth's suit fits a full-grown man.

If you have a fire today your 1918 value is burning up and your fire insurance return will be for what your goods were worth in 1915, 1916 or 1917.

It is imperative to extend your insurance. It is important to enlarge your protection to a point that will cover the replacement value of your goods—your protection is meagre until you do so.

It is as foolhardy to travel along with half enough insurance as it is to take a half dose of medicine to economize. You're after full protection just as you seek absolute cure. Phone for any of the agents listed below. Do it today. Insure for the present value of your goods instead of the past value. Be repaid for what you are worth. It isn't safe to delay.

COMMUNITY SINGING TO BE INTRODUCED

First Performance Will Be Given by Mendelssohn Choir on Monday Night

Community singing is to be introduced in Edmonton by the Mendelssohn Choir on the occasion of the Mendelssohn Choir's first performance on Monday evening, October 10, at 8 p.m. The community singing movement began in the United States shortly after that country entered the war. It was a reflection of the conditions obtaining in the trenches and behind the lines on the fighting front, where our boys are singing the popular songs of war and play. A noted general in the present war said, "Give me a singing army that cannot be defeated." This has been already recognized as a psychological principle by the United States government, which has appointed a musical director in every state under whose direction other musical directors whose duties consist in training and directing "Liberty Chorus" and encouraging the people to sing.

"Sing and Everybody Sing!" This is the injunction given by the state musical director in the United States that assemble outside factories and workshops at noon hours. In a great many industrial institutions in the United States an extra half hour at noon time has been allocated to the workers that they might indulge in community singing. Strong chieftains or a number of smaller choirs are organized by the employers in order to sing the popular war songs of the day.

The greatest choir directors in the United States have thrown themselves into the movement. World-famous singers are not unknown to sing in these "sing-songs." Caruso himself sang in the platform in New York City and sang "Over There" in the middle of the war.

Since we sing the songs our boys are singing in the trenches. This is the reason that the multitude of the mothers, sisters and wives, fathers and brothers of the men who are singing into the battle line with a steady and true life. Community singing is the popular expression of a desire to enter with the men who are singing their way to victory on the various battle fronts.

Owing to circumstances which will preclude the regular weekly practice on Monday night of the Mendelssohn Choir it was suggested that they assist the Canadian Club in connection with Colonel Bentley's lecture. The choir will sing a program of popular songs, which by the way, has never been released. The performance will be so unobtrusive that it will not be in the way of the lecture. The program is as follows:

1. O Canada.
2. Over There.
3. Swale, Swale, Swale.
4. Joan of Arc.
5. There's a Long Long Trail.
6. My Shimmer, Verse.
7. Third First Chorus.
8. Choir and audience, Second Chorus.
9. Rule Britannia.
10. Keep the Home Fires Burning.
11. Tenthing Tonight.
12. Quartet.
13. Address by Lord-Cliff W. Bentley, C.M.G., director of Canadian Services for Canada.
14. Humor and Pathos of the Frenches.
15. National Anthem and God Save Our King.

Allen Theatre Musicians Are Now in the City

A. FRANKLIN, VIOLINIST The leader of the orchestra, which will play in the new Allen Theatre, is a Frank of Winnipeg. Mr. Franklin is a violinist with a musical reputation of considerable ability. When fourteen years old, Mr. Franklin was engaged with the Canadian Talmac Opera Co. as a flautist and travelled with them for eight years.

Recently he has been with the Allen Theatre in Brandon, Man., where he was seen by the Allen in open the theatre there, and was so well liked he has spent over a year in that city, playing and teaching as well as being a considerable concert work. Mr. Franklin appeared before Brandon audiences in First Methodist, Knox Presbyterian and a Baptist church. As a pupil of Professor Howard of Petrograd, Mr. Franklin comes to the city well recommended for his career as leader of the Allen theatre orchestra.

MISS MARY L. DICKSON

As a player of the cello, Miss Mary L. Dickson of Winnipeg, Man., will be of much musical worth to Edmonton, besides being a member of the orchestra of the new Allen Theatre, which opens shortly. Miss Dickson has spent much of her time in New York and spent the past summer there studying Miss Dickson is a pupil of Mr. Wilkes, the Belgian soloist, and was a member of the Kneisel quartet. She has also played with three of the best and best known orchestras in New York City. Miss Dickson is coming to Edmonton with relatives in the city and is a member of the staff of the Associated Music Studio, Ltd., of Edmonton, and will be heard in string trio and quartette work during the coming season.

Mr. Allen's choice of musicians for the orchestra of the new theatre speaks well for the success of the coming season. Other members of the orchestra are expected shortly and Mr. Tompkinson, who is very well known in the city and who has been

The entertainment will open with a grand march of the choir through the aisles of the church, and will close with a setting of beautiful hymns. These are in charge of Mr. J. Tucker, who is pointing elaborate scenery for them. The proceeds of the concert will be to fund a fund for the purpose of sending comforts to the overseas members of the choir on active service. Tickets will be at thirty-five and fifty cents and will be in the hands of the choir for sale to the public in a few days time. The choir, under Mr. Schildrick's direction, is putting in faithful practice for the concert and it is expected that they will measure up to their usual high standard of excellence.

The Selkirk opens Monday night with a four piece orchestra of which A. Franklin, violinist, a recent addition in musical circles, and C. T. Hutwick, cornetist, are members.

NO MORE NERVOUS HEADACHES

Since She Tried "FRUIT-A-TIVE" The Famous Fruit Medicine

MISS ANNIE WARD

113 Hazen St. St. John, N.B.

"It is with pleasure that I write to tell you of the great benefit I received from the use of your medicine, 'Fruit-A-Tive'. I was a great sufferer for many years from Nervous Headaches and Constipation. I tried everything, consulted doctors, but nothing seemed to help me until I tried 'Fruit-A-Tive'.

"After I had taken several boxes, I was completely relieved of these troubles and have been unusually well ever since."

MISS ANNIE WARD.

"Fruit-A-Tive" is a fruit juice, concentrated and increased in strength, combined with sweetened oil, and is a positive and reliable remedy for Headaches and Constipation.

Write for a box for $2.50, trial size 25c.

LETTERS TO UNCLE TOM

Prize Winning Essays for Young People at the Athabasca Fair

HUNS NOW MOVING OUT OF ESTHONIA

My Little Sister
Dear Uncle Tom—I am sorry I did not write before. I like my badge and am proud of it. I am going to school every day and I am doing well.

I have a sister smaller than me and I like her very much. I hope she is getting better. I hope the club badge will be a success.

FLORENCE MAY SMITH

Winced Bushels Per Acre
Dear Uncle Tom—I did not see my last letter in print, but I will try to write you again.

How are all the members of the club? I am well and at present and hope my letter will find the members of the club.

We have had nice weather these days, but today it has been raining. We have not had any frost yet, but some people around here have had frost.

We have not had our potatoes yet. We are waiting for them. We are waiting for them. We are waiting for them.

I go to school every day. I am 11 years old and I am in the fourth grade. We are waiting for them.

CLARA HURSEY

It is a very interesting study the different birds and the weather build that all birds of the same kind build in the same way, and it is not often that they change their ways. They not only use the same kind of building material, but choose the same kind of place. If a person understands their habits their nests can easily be found.

Some birds always choose to build in the high trees, others in the low bushes, and still others in the tall grass. The robin often builds its nest on the fork of a tree, or in a hole in the wall.

The robin often builds its nest on the fork of a tree, or in a hole in the wall. It is a very interesting study the different birds and the weather build that all birds of the same kind build in the same way, and it is not often that they change their ways.

Some birds always choose to build in the high trees, others in the low bushes, and still others in the tall grass. The robin often builds its nest on the fork of a tree, or in a hole in the wall.

My own garden. (By J. Fulton.)

This is a prize-winning essay on writing about a garden. I shall try to tell you how I went about it to raise a garden.

I have a friend who is in the club. I am doing well. I am doing well. I am doing well.

CROSS, SICKLY BABIES
Baby babies—those who are cross and sickly are the most common of all.

I have a friend who is in the club. I am doing well. I am doing well. I am doing well.

Very early in the spring I had planted a few kinds of cabbage, cauliflower and tomatoes in a hot bed and when they were nice and large I thought all danger of frost was over. I set them out one evening after sundown.

Everything grew fine and I have lots of nice cabbages and cauliflowers. We had a hard frost in July which killed off my tomato plants. I felt very badly for I wanted them to grow and eat ripe at my winter place. I guess there were many in the country this year.

I planted a nice patch of potatoes last year. They are doing well. I do not expect to get many this year. They are not doing well.

Well my garden was quite a success and I had plenty of food. I had planted in my garden for some time, but we expect to have lots of carrots, parsnips, beets, onions and cabbage for winter use. So I think you will agree with me that my own garden was not a failure altogether.

POND TRAGEDY.
A Tadpole out for a swim. We were struck by a horrible gas.

He cried "Help!" for a job. But his cry was a wail. And that was the end of his tale.
